

Developing the Whole Leader

To support the development of 'whole' leaders in the public sector it is critical that aspiring managers and leaders are encouraged to explore not just the 'doing' but the 'being' of leadership.

Developing good leadership systems and tools are essential but it is equally important to recognise how to navigate the internal world of leadership and culture.

Workshop one: Responsibility

Explore the foundations of the Grit methodology, identifying levels of communication, your relationship with responsibility, and how to engage with this.

Workshop two: Listening & Core conversations

Explore your relationship with listening - drilling into how your internal voice listens to people before they speak, and how we listen to ourselves.

Workshop three: Coaching from the inside out:

Learn more about the Grit coaching model, which is designed to be understood as a way to participate in life, not just a coaching framework. You'll use this to understand how you can coach others through challenging conversations and relationships.

Dates:

Workshop 1: Tuesday 20th April

Workshop 2: Tuesday 25th May

Workshop 3: Tuesday 29th June

Prices:

1 Workshop : £200

2 Workshops: £400

3 Workshops: £550

The programme is designed for participants to attend all three workshops, however there is a degree of flexibility. You have to do Workshop 1 before you can do one or both of Workshop 2 and/or 3.

To express your interest for the “Developing the Whole Leader” Programme please email hello@thestaffcollege.uk